About the day

Therapeutic Assessment is a brief intervention for young people presenting with self-harm in emergency. It consists of identifying the vicious cycle of self-harm in the form of a diagram, followed by a collaborative development of an “exit”, a way of breaking the cycle and moving forward. TA is linked with improved engagement compared with usual assessment.

Learning Outcomes

- Create a TA diagram depicting the vicious cycle of self-harm
- Develop an “exit” from the cycle
- Critically evaluate the evidence base of TA

Who should attend

Consultants, clinical leads, speciality doctors, nurse practitioners, educational psychologists, senior researchers, and those that work with children and young people affected with mental health issues.

The ‘Masterclass Series’

5hrs of CPD that is part of ACAMH’s ‘Masterclass Series’ delivering advanced, evidence-based training for those working in CYP mental health, to build on skills, knowledge and experience. These interactive sessions, of lectures and workshops, from world-renowned experts, focus on the latest research, and the implications for best-practice.

Speakers

Dr Dennis Ougrin, Consultant Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist. “I am the chief investigator of a randomised controlled trial of ‘Supported Discharge Service vs Treatment as Usual’ in adolescents admitted for in-patient care, and a principal investigator of a randomised controlled trial comparing intensive mental health intervention vs usual social care in Looked After Children.”

Dr Toby Zundel, Consultant Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist. “I co-developed, and published, Therapeutic Assessment for Self-Harm in adolescents as a new approach to improving engagement in young people who present with self-harm”.
